Boy, oh boy, did I ever get some fan mail this week. Read all about it on Page Two of this issue.

Hubbard, The Political Man!

One of the most amazing oddities of this scientific and technological age is that no one has yet been able to solve the mystery of the political man. The organization man, the businessman, the industrial man yes, but the political man, no.

For instance, what do you suppose prompted Senator Carroll Hubbard to lambast at the leadership of the Democratic party when he is a member of that party and just as responsible for its leadership as is any other public official elected under the party label.

Political observers are construing Hubbard's attack on the Democratic party, and particularly Lt. Gov. Wendell Ford, in a thousand different ways.

My personal conviction is that: The General Assembly will be over next week; Hubbard will be going home to Mayfield; his constituents will start asking him why he took no stand on the teachers' salary problem, the new circuit court judgeship for his district, few of the Democratic party's policy issues, and frankly accomplished so little for his district that he decided to find himself a scapegoat and Wendell Ford seemed the logical target.

Poor Carroll, he certainly got some poor advice from his Republican friends about attacking his party. He was in trouble enough in his district before his headline-hunting safari of Monday. At least two candidates, one from Hubbard's Graves County and one from Marshall County were planning to run against him next time. Unless something happens, we see a candidate from each of his five counties running against him in the next senatorial election.

If Senator Hubbard wasn't able to find a leader in his party, it's time he starts looking for a ladder. He's going to need a mighty tall one to climb out of the mess he created for himself. (See story on this page.)

Let's Go To South America!

With the tremendous reception given Evelyn Dixon and Debbie May in Ecuador last December I think it's time we get another group together and take a goodwill trip to the seven banana-producing countries of Central America . . . Mexico, Guatemala, El Salvador, Nicaragua, Costa Rica, Panama and Honduras.

As you know by now, I have made that safari and it is great . . . just simply great. I have an idea that we can get a package deal, including air fare, hotels, sightseeing, some meals for about $325 from New Orleans. It might run a little more, but not much, if about 30 or more people care to make the trip.

Take it from me, it's a fabulous journey. We could take our beauteous princess with us and have red carpet treatment everywhere.

How about it Banana Festival folks? Let's think on this.

Global Population

Some local folks we know are surely becoming members of this jet set. This week Paul and Georgia Butts are having one fine time visiting in Spain. This Saturday Wendell and Louise Butts will probably encounter Georgia and Paul on their way back home, for this popular young couple will also be on their way to Spain for a heavenly six-day trip, with all the trimmings.

I met Stanley Jones out at Hillview Hospital last week while he was out there getting the necessary inoculations for a trip to Hong Kong and other points in the Orient. Some small world, isn't it.

Music Critic, 1970 . . .

Wendell Butler says you just can't tell about current music.

He says he was in a restaurant the other night when a waitress dropped a tray of dishes. Hearing the clatter, four couples got up and started dancing.

Question: — Do you think that property owners should be forced by law to clean up their property when such ugly sites contribute to a bad image in their community?

"I certainly do. A lot of 'clean-up, pick-up, paint-up,' needs to be done in Fulton and South Fulton."

Question: — Do you think the city should help in this project, or do you think this should be done strictly by the owners?

"I think the people who own their property should be required by law to clean up their property. Some of the property is run down, many of the houses need a paint job, but I don't think the paint would stick, the houses are so bare. The main problems are the houses and their surroundings. This law should be in effect, especially in the urban renewal areas. This project would be of value to the people who visit our area. We should be proud to say that we have the twin cities and we can't be when some sections of our city look like a garbage dump."

Hubbard Made No Effort To Help Lawmakers, Demo Leader Says

FRANKFORT, Ky. — J. R. Miller, chairman of the Democratic Party in Kentucky, Tuesday verbally roasted Sen. Carroll Hubbard for his criticism of Democratic leadership under Lt. Gov. Wendell Ford.

Hubbard, D-Mayfield, on Monday issued a statement saying he had "become increasingly disappointed in the leadership abilities and foresight of Lt. Gov. Ford."

Miller held an impromptu press conference here to respond to Hubbard's statement. The party chieftain said, "Sen. Hubbard has acted in a very immature and irresponsible manner."

Miller said the "personal aspects of the senator's charges" against Ford "is between the two of them."

But Miller said Hubbard's statement included criticism of a "lack of leadership in our Democratic Party of Kentucky . . ."

"With this one statement," Miller said, "the senator has insulted not only the members of the state central executive committee of the party of which he is a member, but also the members of the legislative leadership, as well as Lt. Gov. Ford, titular head of the party."

Miller said Hubbard "has been guilty of the very thing for which he accused party leadership—lack of effort on behalf of the party and absence of a stable position on matters of importance to Kentucky and the Democratic Party."

Says Hubbard Not "Helpful"

"Through the first 50 days of this legislative session, Sen. Hubbard has been silent and inactive while this leadership worked innumerable hours to provide the Democratic Party with a responsible program of legislation for Kentucky."

"Although he has offered no assistance and no constructive changes, he chooses now, with only 10 days left for the serious proposition of responsible law-making, to make his irresponsible charges against the party leadership and the party's efforts for Kentucky."

Newsman asked Miller if his prepared statement indicates he wouldn't support Hubbard in future political races. Miller responded, "I like to support people I think are responsible and stable and party loyalists."

Hubbard Does Not Attend Teacher's Meet

Members of the Fulton City Education Association were in attendance at a meeting in Paducah Saturday to discuss with area legislators new developments in the teachers' salary crisis in Kentucky.

Meeting at Tilghman High School—a large contingent of districts from the thirteen-county First District Education Association heard reports from high-ranking legislators regarding the status of education legislation now pending in the Kentucky General Assembly.

Making talks to the educators were Speaker of the House Julian Carroll, Tom Garrett, David Carter, Joseph McBride, Richard Lewis and Loyd Clapp. Senator Carroll Hubbard said he was unable to attend because of the illness of his young

South Fulton Continues Expansion Plans In Housing, Water, Recreation

Three major projects in the City of South Fulton — one a reality and two contemplated for the near future — were reviewed by the Mayor, Commissioners and City Manager of South Fulton in their regular meeting here Tuesday night.

One project involved the establishment of public housing within the community; presently there is none, nor is there even any machinery for establishing any. A first step in this direction, agreed at Tuesday's meeting, was the establishment of a Public Housing Commission, to which Mayor Crocker named five members. When the Commission is formed, it may apply directly to Federal authorities for implementation of plans for Federal Housing within the community.

Named Wednesday to the new Commission are C. D. Jones, to serve for one year; Rev. Gerald Stowe, 2 years; George Chambers, 3 years; Bill Bennett, 4 years; and Harvey Vick, 5 years.

In another major project that may seek to annex a large new portion of land to the City, the Commission agreed to engage the services of the Nichols Engineering Company of Union City to prepare immediate plans and specifications for extension of sewer lines westward to the Milam subdivision.

Haste in the preparation of plans is apparently dictated by the fact that federal funds earmarked for pollution control are now available to the community.

It was pointed out that the Milam subdivision area is now served by city water, and if at 80 percent grant can be secured to build an interceptor sewer to the area, the City is likely to go ahead with it if residents of the area first agree to incorporation within South Fulton city limits.

In the third major project discussed at length, a major summer recreation program for young and old of the community—already a going thing — is scheduled to be broadened out to include many activities for adults in the Twin-Cities area. Items include such as physical fitness programs

Roll Up Your Sleeves, Theme Of Red Cross

By Anna Belle Edwards

The Red Cross Fund Drive Campaign Slogan for 1970 is very simple — Roll Up Your Sleeves. But it expresses well the relationship between the Red Cross and individual communities across the nation. The Red Cross is the agent of people of good will everywhere. In other words, the Red Cross is an organization that rolls up its sleeves in times of disaster, war and other situations when human beings are subjected to suffering.

Quite frequently we hear the remark that the Red Cross is a Coffee and Doughnut organization. This is a false statement. Over a period of years the Red others. For the Red Cross has no funds appropriated to it by any government. It is solely dependent on the gifts and donations of people in towns just like Fulton. Without such gifts, the Red Cross would cease to function.

What, exactly, does the Red Cross do? Last year in Fulton alone the Red Cross assisted eighteen families and made sixty-five long distance phone calls for service men and their families.

Remark that the Red Cross is a Coffee and Doughnut organization. This is a false statement. Over a period of years the Red Cross has spent more money in Fulton County than has been donated.

George Brock, 1970 Fund Drive chairman in Fulton, has announced that the drive will begin tomorrow (Friday), March 13, with the following soliciting funds from local businessmen:

Joe Treas, Bud Davis, Mrs. Joe Treas, Mrs. Anna Belle Edwards, Louis Weaks, Ron Laird, Ed Holt, Bill Scott, Hal Warren, Guy Upton, Harry Reams, George Brock, Mrs. Nell Graham, H. H. Bugg, Ray Williams, Bill Fossett, Lonnie Roper, Charles Robert Bennett, Gaylon Varden, Kenneth Crews, John Joe Campbell, Lawson Roper, Mrs. Mary Nell Wright and Hunter B. Whitesell.

The names of the workers in the residential areas will be announced a little later.

Chairman Brock said, "Red Cross helps. And now the organization is calling on the people of Fulton and the rural areas to 'roll up their sleeves.' The goal for Fulton is $1506, a very reasonable goal and one that can be reached. I would like to urge each of you to give as much as you can when a Red Cross volunteer worker calls on you this month."

Letter To Editor Brings Apology To Frogs, Comments On Citizen's Council

March 9, 1970

Jo's Notebook
The Fulton County News
Fulton, Ky.

Inasmuch as there was no other meeting held in this community on this particular date, it is assumed that the meeting you have reference to is the one held at the Holiday Inn. If you had attended you would have heard an interesting speech, and probably learned something. These people are dedicated to the restoration of constitutional and representative government. They have no intention of doing anything to add to the already existing problems of this community. But it seems that you have other ideas.

When you give US the story as promised, if you will state the truth and facts, and refrain from distortion and dirty insidious innuendo, you shall be rendering a worthwhile service to this community. Inasmuch as you have been identified with the left wing liberals you are not expected to say anything good about this movement.

You didn't improve your image when you tried to embarrass and humiliate Sheriff Hill by quoting what he was supposed to have said in response to a phone call. Sheriff Hill is a duly elected public official and is due respect, even from your paper. You are ready to persecute anyone who doesn't hop when you holler frog.

No go ahead and shoot off your mouth to your dear public about the anonymous letter you received from some low character who didn't have the guts, nor courage to sign their name. I have no intention of affording you the opportunity to smear my name all over the front page of your lousy paper. If I had the media with which to defend myself before the public I would be happy to sign my name.

As it is you may refer to me as, "One Who Was There."

Editor's Note: Thanks for reading our "lousy" newspaper. We keep telling our advertisers that nearly everybody reads the News, agree with us or not.

Too bad you chose not to sign your name. It would have had far more effect if other readers could know the identity of the writer. What is more you have THIS NEWSPAPER to defend yourself if, of course, your actions need defending.

We were not invited to attend the meeting, you spoke of. There were three other meetings in town, we needed to attend, but couldn't, to which we were asked by the way.

As for causing any embarrassment to Sheriff Hill we disagree. We quoted him verbatim.

As for any respect due Sheriff Hill because he is an elected official please know that we do indeed respect the ELECTED OFFICE, but not always the individual who holds it, just as we respect the clergy, but not necessarily the clergyman.

Your self-appraisal of a "low character who didn't have the guts, not the courage to sign their name," are your words, not ours. We agree with you.

We know who you are however, and we don't think you're that kind of a guy at all. You're just a nice gentleman who is being taken in by a group of radicals who may be hiding under the flag-waving dedication of restoration of constitutional and representative government, while not wanting these same American privileges for all the people, all the time.

Cool it man! Give us the story about your new Citizen's Council to fight Communism in Fulton. Your information will not be distorted or fraught with insidious innuendoes if you give us some real FACTS about Communism in Fulton.

It is beyond our comprehension why such a worthy mission did not deserve wide coverage by the press, regardless of how lousy some of its representatives may be. Such an endeavor needs the support of left wings and right wings to fly over the ground in the right direction. Right? Right!

No need to write us another letter, buddy. You've gotten all the coverage you're going to get unless you sign your name so we can discuss the matter as intelligent human beings rather than as anonymous cowards.

Meanwhile our apologies to the frog. Honestly, we've never used his name in vain.

But we have seen people hop higher 'n a kite and get madder 'n old wet rooster when we holler TRUTH.

Ouch, Again!

Heed this warning from Kiplinger: Sharply higher taxes are coming. Your aggregate tax bite — federal, state, county and city — will soon be far greater than ever before in history, including times of major wars.

This may be hard to swallow, but you'd better get ready. It's not enough to leave your tax problems to the tax technicians. You as a businessman or investor must have more personal knowledge of taxes than ever before. It's the only way you can guard against paying more than your share of what will be an unbelievably heavy tax load.

Facts and Opinion

Representative M. Gene Snyder from Kentucky says: "There are many areas where the government is in competition with private business. Business pays taxes and operates on a profit. The government does neither and thus costs are high—subsidized—and small business people often are forced out of business with their own tax money."

POET'S CORNER

TREES

I think that I shall never see
A poem as lovely as a tree.

A tree whose hungry mouth is prest
Against the earth's sweet flowing breas;

A tree that looks at God all day,
And lifts her leafy arms to pray;

A tree that may in summer wear
A nest of robins in her hair;

Upon whose bosom snow has lain;
Who intimately lives with rain.

Poems are made by fools like me,
But only God can make a tree.

Li.-Gov. Wendell Ford

Your questions relating to the Commonwealth of Kentucky will be answered. Write Governor Ford at Frankfort, Ky.

B. A. King, Edgewood Road, Covington, asked about deeding the Ohio River to the Buckeye State. Letters from A. W., of Greenup; Mrs. A. L. S., of Louisville; and R. K., of Maysville, posed the same question.

Dear Mr. King: Governor

Rhodes, of Ohio, is making passes at Kentucky on this, and two representatives introduced a Resolution inviting him to address the General Assembly. I will never agree to deed any of the Ohio River to the Governor of Ohio, even if it freezes over in July.

Sincerely,
Wendell Ford
Lieutenant Governor

A letter from Mrs. B. K., of Hawesville, asks, "Can't something be done to protect us from 'fly-by-night' companies that come through the farm areas gypping people with no-good paint jobs on barns roofs? After the first real rain, half the paint washed off, but the painters and the money were out of sight."

Dear Mrs. K.: A proposed law (SB 169) would require commercial paint sprayers to get a state license. This would give some control by identifying them and would let the customer know who he's dealing with. The license could be revoked and legal penalties imposed if the customer gets gypped.

The bill passed the Senate and I hope we can pass it in the House. I don't think honest painters will object to this law, and others need it.

Sincerely,
Wendell Ford
Lieutenant Governor

Many people, including Mrs. H. C. W., London, rural route, write about the shortage of housing: "We hear about the need for housing in big cities, but it's even worse in the country and small towns. Hardly a house was built in this section last year. People can't find houses to buy and couldn't afford them at the price anyway. Please help."

Dear Mrs. W.: The shortage of lending money and national inflation make the housing problem worse, but it has to be whipped and the state should help.

A bill before the Legislature would establish the "Kentucky Housing Development Fund." I'm for it. This Fund could make insured mortgage loans to sponsors of residential housing anywhere in Kentucky when mortgage loans are not otherwise available. It also could lend money to low-income families for downpayments and closing costs.

The Democratic-sponsored budget passed by the Legislature appropriates $350,000 to get this help started, and the new agency could issue up to $200,000,000 in bonds to finance low-cost housing.

I emphasize loans would have to be safely secured. This bill, introduced by Mrs. Mae Street Kidd, of Louisville, passed in the House. I'm trying to help it pass in the Senate. With housing construction at a standstill, it's time for a new approach.

Sincerely,
Wendell Ford
Lieutenant Governor

OF INTEREST TO WOMEN

Letter From Washington

By
Mrs. John Sherman Cooper

Poor little February is the sickest month. Everyone I talk to has been felled by some foul germ and the dark, dripping, drizzly weather does little to raise one's spirits in convalescence.

I have had bronchitis, temperature 103, mind you, but became so tired of creeping around the house that although racked by coughs, I struggled up the staircase at Mrs. Longworth's house for her birthday party where I found a collection of people feeling much the way I did. Nevertheless, it is always gay at Mrs. Longworth's. She has a glorious quality of making everyone feel that they are just the person she has been looking forward to seeing.

Her lovely looks and welcoming manner, and glorious irreverence have made her unlike anyone else I have ever known. I hope you will find time to read "T. R. and Will" by William Manners. It is a lively account of the famous Roosevelt-Taft friendship and feud besides the political history from the turn of the century to 1912. There is a lot about Mrs. Longworth's life in this book and I had not known before reading it how very much she is like her father.

Also excellent reading is "Darwin and the Beagle" by Alan Morehead, about Darwin's famous journey and also a novel "The French Lieutenant's Woman" by John Fowles. Both books are Victorian in period and compliment each other and, oh, such good writing.

Washington, a government town, is no fashion center. But that doesn't mean that the people here do not take as keen an interest in the future length of skirts as pace-setting New York. I have become a minor skirt length authority because when I was in Paris in October, I bought a winter coat, skirt and dress at mid length. Now that the longuettes are the "thing" of fashion, I am hailed as a Cassandra. However, don't panic, ladies.

No need to let every hem down as this spring there will be a great variety in lengths. The only daytime fashion casualty will be, I hope, the clumsy maxi. I have watched the poor kids struggling up and down Georgetown, sweeping the dusty streets with their new purchases, falling out of cars and even getting immersed in escalators with the danger of coming out like toothpaste. Maxis are great at night but not during working hours.

Good news from Kentucky: We received a letter from William Hull, the Executive Director of the Kentucky Fine Arts Commission, saying the Commission had concluded arrangements for a loan from the National Gallery in Washington for three showings throughout the Commonwealth of two centuries of American portraits including works of Gilbert Stuart, Benjamin West, John Trumbull, Thomas Sully and many others including John Singer Sargent.

The work of several Kentucky portrait painters will be added by the Speed Museum of Louisville. This is the first loan that the National Gallery has given to a State Art Commission and we are so happy that it should come to Kentucky.

Nancy Cook's Tour

By
Mrs. Marlow Cook

Haven't we had a snowy winter? Washington weather is very similar to Kentucky's but I know, from our January visit and your weather reports, you have had an unusually white few months.

The only compensation for it is that the children have had great fun sledding. We live in a very hilly section of Virginia, so the slopes are right out the back door. Webb (7) and Wee-zie (10) have spent every free minute sliding, either on sleds or off! At last count, the toboggan was missing and the sled had come apart. Hopefully, spring cannot be far away!!

A few weeks ago we received an engraved invitation from the President and Mrs. Nixon to attend a state dinner in honor of Prime Minister and Mrs. Harold Wilson of Great Britain. Enclosed in the envelope was an additional small card saying "white tie". This was a first in our lives, necessitating a shopping trip for Marlow.

On the night of the dinner, while we dressed, Wee-zie was chatting with us about the events of her day. I was helping Marlow decipher the new shirt, starched collar, studs, collar buttons, tie and vest. After some minutes of struggling, we had the very stiff-winged collar in place. Wee-zie, a wide-eyed ten year old, looked up at her daddy and said, "Can you talk, Daddy?" He managed to talk and looked very handsome in the outfit!

The guests gathered in the East Room of the White House before the President and his honored guests appeared. We spoke with the Secretary of State and Mrs. William Rogers and Secretary of the Treasury and Mrs. David Kennedy. I met, for the first time, Chief Justice Warren Burger who is a delightfully friendly gentleman. Our ambassador to Great Britain and Mrs. Walter H. Annenberg were a most striking couple.

All was quiet as the trumpets announced the arrival of the President and Mrs. Nixon. Prime Minister Wilson and Mrs. Wilson. Mrs. Nixon was outstanding in a long-sleeved, flowing gold gown. Next to her in the receiving line, stood petite, brunet Mrs. Wilson in a handsome turquoise dress. She showed no signs of the long day's travels which had started at 5 a. m. our time.

As the large group slowly moved to the State Dining Room, Lucy Winchester, the Kentuckian who is Social Secretary to Mrs. Nixon, was busily introducing guests to one another and helping them find their dinner partners. Lucy looked charming in a red brocade, high-necked dress. Marlow was fortunate in having the very attractive Patricia Mosbacher as his dinner partner. She, as the wife of the Chief of Protocol, had been helping Lucy with the guests.

Senator Allen Ellender of Louisiana delighted me during dinner with tales of his many travels. He is an avid collector of fine china and has many complete sets. His wife, before her death many years ago, apparently inspired this interest. The Senator's greatest pride in life is his only child, a son, and his thirteen grandchildren. He feels he is very "wealthy" indeed!

We both enjoyed the company of Sir Denis Greenhill who sat on my left. As British Undersecretary of State, he was a member of the official British party visiting in America. Sir Denis had previously lived in Washington in some eight years ago and was astounded at the growth of the capital.

After dinner the President had a very gracious friendly welcome for his British visitors, ending with a toast. His greeting was answered by Mr. Wilson who was very enthusiastic about the friendship of our countries. The atmosphere was extremely congenial!

After coffee, we returned to the East Room and were seated for the concert given by Robert Farnsworth.

Ann Landers

— Your Problems Bring Answers —

Dear Ann Landers: Shortly after our 25th wedding anniversary my husband informed me there would be some changes made. He announced that starting now he is going to do all the things he was wanted to do—with or without me. Moreover, he made it clear that a quarter of a century of complete fidelity is more than most women get and a heck of a lot better than I deserve. According to him, I am selfish, indifferent, unresponsive, and totally without initiative or imagination.

He plans to travel, eat out, go to the theater and spend time with friends. He said, "You can devote the rest of your life to housework, fussing about the kids, polishing silver and sleeping since that seems to be what you enjoy most."

My husband is attractive, charming and financially well off. He won't have any trouble finding company. Many of the points he has made are valid. I am in a state of shock. Any advice?—Ada

Dear Ada: Snap out of it and read the second sentence of your letter. Apparently he has given you a few options. My advice is to make sure he does all these things WITH you. Or you can bet your boots he'll do them with somebody else.

Dear Ann Landers: I had lunch today in a little Gypsy tearoom. A fortune teller who works there offered to tell my fortune for $5.

I do not believe in fortune tellers, but I thought it would be interesting, so I agreed. The woman had never seen me before yet she spoke of many things that floored me. She also mentioned a physical problem I have had since birth. When she said, "The operation your doctor wants to perform is not necessary," I was amazed. When I asked her how she knew of the operation she said she has supernatural powers which enable her to receive vibrations which she translates into facts. I am now considering canceling the operation but I don't want to do anything foolish. Advise me, please. — Shook Cookie

Dear Cookie: Does it make sense to you that a person with "supernatural powers" would be soliciting customers in a tearoom?

If you let a fortune teller talk you out of surgery suggested by your doctor you need another doctor—for your head.

Dear Ann Landers: I don't know how to say this but I'll do my best. My husband and I have been married for 12 years and our marriage is better than most. Our sex life has always been very good, at least

I thought so. Lately he is interested in things I consider far out. Please tell me what is right and what is wrong? We live in a small town and I can't talk to anyone else about this. —D. C. Dilemma

Dear D. C.: There is no right or wrong in married love. So long as there is mutual agreement and no pain inflicted, whatever two people agree on is "right." Note, I said TWO people.

How will you know when the real thing comes along? Ask Ann Landers. Send for her booklet "Love Or Sex And How To Tell The Difference," by Ann Landers. Enclose a long, stamped, self-addressed envelope with your request.

Ann Landers will be glad to help you with your problems. Send them to her in care of this newspaper, enclosing a self-addressed, stamped envelope.

berta Peters, Metropolitan Opera star. She is an attractive, small lady with a marvelous voice which was blended beautifully with a flute accompaniment in several selections. It was a delightful program.

A lovely auburn-haired lady and her husband sat next to Marlow at the concert. We both immediately recognized her as Greer Garson. What a charming person! She reminisced glowingly about her visits to Kentucky and her stay in the Executive Mansion at Frankfort. Marlow had to admit to his great love for her in the forties! Even Prime Minister Wilson reflected on "Mrs. Miniver" in his talk after dinner. Miss Garson was stunning in a long, black satin dress. Her only jewelry consisted of drop earrings of emeralds surrounded with diamonds. It's fun to know that such a beautiful, successful person is so interesting and gracious.

The sequel to meeting Greer Garson occurred the next morning at breakfast. I was giving Caroline and Nan, our high school daughters, the details of the State dinner. Thinking they would be impressed, I added that Greer Garson sat next to their daddy. A puzzled look crossed their faces. "Who's that?" How deflating to have the generation gap so obviously displayed!

Introducing Our Churches - God's Agency For Spreading His Love

THE WATER VALLEY METHODIST CHURCH

The Water Valley Methodist Church was organized in 1855 by a group of local merchants and citizens who were unwilling to live and raise their families in a community which did not have a church. The first building was used for forty-eight years. The present building was built in 1903, with an educational department being added in 1962.

Served by thirty-seven pastors, the Water Valley Methodist Church has presented the Christian Gospel to the people of Water Valley and the surrounding community for eighty-one years. Its doors are open today, as they have always been, to anyone wishing to worship God. Sunday School classes are provided for all ages. The Methodist Youth Fellowship, which supports a Korean orphan,

WATER VALLEY, KENTUCKY

Sunday Closing Power Belongs To Legislature

It is the prerogative of the General Assembly and not city governments to decide what kind of business will be open or closed on Sundays.

This, in substance, is what the Kentucky Court of Appeals ruled in negating a Bowling Green ordinance that tried to define "works of necessity" allowed under the state's 169-year-old Sunday closing law.

The unanimous decision by the state's appellate court, which reversed Warren Circuit Court, came at a time when the 1970 General Assembly had under consideration several bills dealing with Sunday closing.

One is a Senate bill specifying which stores would remain open on Sundays. Another is a House bill calling for repeal of the existing law only.

Andy and Rachel Mathis of Farmington, Lucile Brann and Mr. and Mrs. Garrett Bailey visited Mr. and Mrs. Bill Shelton and children in Memphis last Tuesday.

The community was saddened by the unexpected passing of Miss Mable Cavender, life-long resident of Dukedom, last Friday morning. She was pronounced dead on arrival at the hospital in Fulton. Funeral was at Jackson Funeral Chapel and burial was in Old Bethel Cemetery Sunday afternoon.

Lewis Cole caught a fall at his home this past week and was pretty sore and shook up, but glad there were no broken bones.

Friends of Mr. and Mrs. Joe Matt Cunningham gathered at the One and All Club Friday night and gave them a pink and blue shower. Many nice gifts were received.

Bates Byars is a patient in Hillview Hospital, with pneumonia.

Good Springs is having a series of sermons on Evangelism, delivered by the pastor, Rev. Owen Stover, and finding them very helpful. On next Sunday morning the subject will be "Personal Evangelism." You are invited to enter into this worship service at 9:45. Sunday School follows at 10:45 and a surprise is being planned for next Sunday. Rally Day will be observed March 22 and you have a special invitation to attend that Sunday.

Historical Society To Hold Meet Here; Reelfoot Is Topic

Emmett Lewis, historian and civic leader of Tiptonville, Tenn., will be the principal speaker at the spring meeting of the Jackson Purchase Historical Society at the Holiday Inn in Fulton, Ky., Saturday evening, March 28, at 6:30 p. m. Mr. Lewis' tentative topic is river lore and the Reelfoot Lake region.

Dr. L. J. Horton, president of the Jackson Purchase Historical Society, will make a "wrap-up" report on the circulation and sales of the Sequicentennial edition of the Mayfield Messenger, which was prepared by the Society.

Dr. Hunter Hancock, chairman of the biological sciences at Murray State University, will also announce plans for the annual summer or fall tour to be taken by the Society. Each year the members of the Society charter a bus to visit historical sites.

Last fall the group visited the Natchez Trace, the ancestral home of James Knox Polk, the Franklin Battlefield and other historical sites near Columbia, Tenn. Fifteen tours have been conducted since the series was inaugurated in 1959 by Dr. Hancock.

The eight Kentucky counties in the Jackson Purchase are Ballard, Calloway, Carlisle, Fulton, Graves, Hickman, Marshall, and McCracken.

Mrs. John Kirksey of Paducah will become president of the Jackson Purchase Historical Society July 1.

Reservations for the dinner March 28 at Fulton can be secured from Miss Margaret Heath, 1202 Maple Street, Benton, Ky.

Police Investigate Reported Robbery

Police are investigating an early Tuesday morning hold-up at Graddy's Service Station, located at the corner of Fourth and Lake Streets in Fulton.

According to police, a negro youth went into the station around 1:50 a. m. and demanded cash. The youth forced Leand Jewell, the station attendant to lie on the floor, then took $153.00 from the cash drawer and fled. It was not certain whether the Negro youth was armed, but the attendant said the youth kept his hand in his pocket as if he was holding a gun.

Kentucky ranks 28th in personal income per child, but 44th in state and local tax collections on property as a percent of personal income.

An effort to determine the number of people who would be interested in these various programs will be made in the near future by the Summer Recreation Program committee, which includes Harvey Vick, Elson McGuire, Mrs. Kelly Lowe, Rev. Gerald Stowe, Virgil Yates and K. M. Winston.

The program, it was emphasized, will in no way conflict with the annual summer program of Twin Cities Youth, Inc. It is designed to attract other age groups and include activities that Twin Cities Youth does not have. The intramural basketball activities of the program are already in full swing at the old Rosenwald east gym and the program is proving very popular.

HUBBARD MADE—

I've never seen any indication that Carroll Hubbard was very helpful.

Miller said Hubbard's criticism of Ford was not prompted or connected in any way with former Gov. Bert Combs, who has been rumored to be on the verge of announcing plans to run again for governor.

Asked about the repeated rumors that Combs may soon resign from his present position as a judge on the U. S. 6th Circuit Court of Appeals, Miller said, "He hasn't told me he is going to resign."

Miller said he plans to endorse a candidate in the Democratic primary "and when I decide who I am going to support, I will resign (as party chairman)."

Asked when candidates for the Democratic nomination for governor might be expected to make formal announcements, Miller said it would probably be "before Derby time" (the first Saturday in May) of this year.

Sheriff Corky Hill, Hickman, Ky.

Dear Corky:

Scuttlebutt has it all over town that there was a killing at Four Points and the victim was DOA at a local hospital.

We are receiving many, many phone calls on it.

We can't find out anything at all about it.

I called your office and I am informed two things:

1. The sheriff is out in the County somewhere and can't be reached, and,

2. The party with whom I am speaking is "not allowed to give out any information like that."

With a set-up like this, how are the news media supposed to know or find out what's going on? It would seem to me that the man you leave in your office should be permitted to give out any information he has that is a matter of the public record.

With your present set-up, I am unable to pass the information along to our people and to United Press International. I hope you will take another look at your arrangements.

Sincerely,

Kenneth Z. Turner

Hello, Jo:
I am Myrtle Ridgway, Helen, Jeannie and Joe's mother. Remember?

Well, I wrote Dula to ask you to send me about three back papers dated January 22nd and a subscription for your paper and to send a bill for all of it.

We got your acknowledgment of the order for your paper; then, yesterday, we received a paper.

We had not been taking it, but enjoyed it thoroughly, as there was news about so many people we used to know.

We have not received the back issues. Guess Dula and Mary Nell did not understand, or else you did not have them.

I wanted one for myself and one for Jeanne and Helen, as they had an article about Joe and one about Don. Am surprised that Mary Nell didn't send Jeanne one. She wants one for her book. If I can only get one for her, would appreciate it.

Someone sent Joe one from the Fulton paper and it was in the St. Louis Post or Globe, but, somehow, we missed it. Jeanne is in the St. Thomas Hospital in Nashville, had surgery. Thought you might be interested, as she has always thought so much of you.

Enclosed is check for the paper and if you have any of the old papers, please send them and let me know how much they are.

Best wishes to you and your family.

Yours truly,
Myrtle and Carlisle Ridgway

Dear Mrs. Westpheling:

The Fulton City Education Association wishes to compliment you for your fine editorial of February 26, 1970, which informed the public of the existing situation in Kentucky's schools.

Our members felt that our community needed these facts placed before them. Your editorial very adequately achieved this purpose.

Your interest and concern for good education in Kentucky and your desire to move in the direction of the progress and achievement of this ultimate goal is certainly commendable.

Tenn. Highway Department Views Property For New Route

The engineering departments of the Tennessee State and Regional Offices of the Highway Department held a meeting last Thursday afternoon in the City Hall of South Fulton, Tennessee.

The purpose of the meeting was to inform the property owners the portion of their land that would be needed for option in order to construct a new highway.

This construction will begin in early fall, and will be approximately 1.162 miles. It will begin south of the Park Terrace Restaurant in South Fulton, Tenn., and will run west to connect on Highway 51 Interstate, South of Fulton, Kentucky.

Only eight property owners in the South Fulton area are indicated in the land option. They are: R. L. McKinney Estate, Harry Latta, Herbert Latta, Donald Stokes, Buren Rogers, Guy Payne, Obion County Board of Education, W. K. S. C., and Donald Stokes.

Those attending in addition to the property owners were: C. E. Grecks III, Sr., Right-of-Way Engineering Department, Nashville; Paul H. Emmons, State Right of Way Appraiser, Nashville; Billy Joe Tucker, Assistant Right of Way Engineering Department, Jackson; Carl Woods, Assistant Regional Locating Engineering Department, Jackson.

Fulton Delays Water District, School Issue

The Southwest Kentucky Water District was given top priority for discussion during the regular monthly meeting of the Fulton City Commission.

The water district is seeking approval on a contract to purchase water from the City of Fulton to supply water to rural areas. Construction plans have been in process for several years, and the district is seeking renewal of the present agreement without chance in order to speed construction.

The Commission, also approved a resolution to oppose Kentucky House Bill 404. The bill, if passed by the Kentucky Legislature, would put all utility systems under the jurisdiction of the Public Service Commission.

The City voted to install a street light on Mears St. between Second and Commercial, and also to employ Billy Westmoreland as a full-time patrolman.

Fulton City Board of Education's attorney Hunter Whitesell, appeared in person before the Commission, to request the city to advertise for bids to construct the new high school. It was voted that no action be taken on this matter, until the Board made their request in writing.

We're not asking for the Moon!

We're asking for four basic needs of Education

- 1 Professional Negotiation: This would establish the legal process by which school districts can tap the experience of teachers in the improvement of conditions of teaching.
- 2 Removal of the Limitation on Local School Tax Rates: This is a step in restoring some of the local control needed by school boards in meeting the growing and changing needs of local schools.
- 3 Fringe Benefits: This would allow school boards to participate in several employee-benefit programs such as group insurance, personal leave provisions, sick leave programs, professional improvement programs and retirement improvements.
- 4 Cost-of-Living Application to the State Minimum Salary Provisions: During the 1969 calendar year, the cost of living rose over six percent. Kentucky teachers rank 41st in the nation in average classroom salaries.

Small Thaw Voted

School Districts Provided Leeway On Property Taxes

FRANKFORT, Ky. The House voted 49-26 Thursday for a further small thaw in property taxes for school districts, then refused, on a 37-42 vote, to do the same for cities and counties.

Both bills would have allowed those local governmental units which failed to take advantage of the permissible 10 per cent tax increase in 1968 and 1969 to do so now. They also would have frozen property tax rates at the 1969 or 1968 level thus allowing the tax revenue to increase in the future along with higher values of property.

House Bill 451, for school districts, and HB 452, for cities and counties, were introduced by Rep. Dwight Wells, D-Richmond.

Four representatives who previously had endorsed all the Kentucky Education Association's demands — including one to ease the 1965 tax rollback law — abstained on HB 451 and voted against HB 452.

All have school ties: Rep. Sherman Arnett, D-Clearfield, a high school principal; and three teachers, Reps. Darvin Allen, D-Royalton; Brooks Hinkle, D-Paris; and John Salyers, D-Bulan. Another teacher — member, Rep. Lloyd McKinney, R-McKee, was absent.

Also defeated, on a 34-60 vote, was HB 180 which would allow all public employees, including teachers, to organize for collective bargaining. The bill, sponsored by Rep. Norbert Blume, D-Louisville, would ban strikes and provide for binding arbitration of grievances.

Voting against HB 180 were all 27 Republican members who were present and the same four educators. The KEA has been pushing for its own bill for giving teachers and school administrators professional negotiations rights with school boards.

While the vote on HB 451 — on school taxes — was still in doubt, Rep. Bernard Keene, D-Bardonia, declared: "It takes a little guts to vote for this bill...but I think we should."

Rep. John Swinford, D-Cynthiana, argued that "local districts have a responsibility" to help finance education and teacher pay raises and that HB 451 would enable more to do so. The bill now goes to the Senate.

Rep. William P. Curlin Jr., D-Frankfort — trying to get the 40 votes needed to pass HB 452 — pointed out that the House passed a bill last week to force cities to pay more for firefighting. "Now," he asserted "we are not allowing them (the cities) to raise money to finance it." He termed the inaction or opposition of his colleagues "irresponsible."

The 1965 tax rollback law, enacted to offset the 100 per cent assessment of property required by a Court of Appeals ruling, froze local governments and school districts at the 965 revenues level. The only exception were for new property and for those governments which elected to take a 10 per cent boost the following years.

The result, many House members argued Thursday, was that the legislature was requiring local governments to operate in 1970 with a 1965-scale income. HB 498, passed by the House Wednesday, would offset that somewhat by allowing assessments of old property to be increased to reflect improvements or other higher value.

These other bills were passed and sent to the Senate Thursday.

— Senate Bill 147, making college students' academic records confidential; but before passing the bill 87-0, the House amended it to provide access for state and local government officials and school or scholarship personnel who need to see the records. The bill already made the records available to draft boards.

— HB 236, prohibiting anyone from setting backfires in or near timberland without first getting written permission from the state Forestry Division, 83-3.

GOES BEFORE YOU DO Remember, you can't take it with you—who ever saw a Brinks truck in a cemetery.

WHY DID I EVER SAY IT? "I'm going to ask for a raise today, and if I don't get it, I'm going to give notice right on the spot."
"Sure I can lift it. You think I got a bad back or something?"

FRANKELY SPEAKING: doc is deaf . . . my bank won't let me into the Christmas club for 1970; claims I didn't attend the meetings in 1969. — Don I. Frankel.

MURRAY, Ky., Construction on a new $1,068,000 general services building at Murray State University is expected to begin next week, according to Dr. Thomas B. Hogancamp, vice president for administrative affairs.

To house the purchasing department, a central stores area, printing service and warehouse storage space, the two-level structure will be located on Chestnut Street at the east edge of the campus.

Seven general contract bids were opened in Frankfort last week on the project, with McBar Contractors, Inc., of Bowling Green as the apparent low bidder. A contract award is expected to be made this week for a 12-month construction period.

However, Hogancamp said university officials are hoping for completion of the building, which will have 58,000 square feet of floor space and 2,280 square feet of loading dock space, by the end of 1970.

He pointed out that the bid by the Bowling Green firm is $37,800 less than the estimated construction cost of $1,105,800.

"This building will be a valuable asset to the campus by the relief it will offer to an overcrowded condition that is becoming critical in several key service areas," Hogancamp added.

Gresham Associates of Paducah is handling the architectural work on the project. Apparent low bids for subcontracts were submitted by Miller Plumbing and Heating of Benton on mechanical work and Real Electric Corp. of Owensboro on electrical work.

Ancestor Plaques May Not Be Valid

CHICAGO — Mary Ann Wills, an interior design consultant, is not very enthusiastic about the latest decorating rage — ancestor plaques and coats of arms.

"To the dismay of heraldic and genealogical experts here and abroad, mail-order coats of arms have turned into a booming business," she said.

The chances of receiving a legitimate coat of arms by mail are exceedingly remote, she points out. There are, for example, at least 384 different Smith family arms on record.

"Without exhaustive genealogical research," Miss Wills said, "it would be nearly impossible to connect a present-day Smith with the proper Smith of an earlier century."

Woman's World

NEW YORK — A man's world? Jacqueline Sher doesn't believe it.

At 25, Miss Sher is the president of a publicly-owned data processing center.

But she is far from the stuffed shirt, cigar-smoking image this title brings to mind.

"I've never smoked a cigar in my life, but I will—and do—compete with any man in the data processing business," says the Madjax Data Co. president.

Actually she doesn't crow about her accomplishments even though she's gone from keypunch operator to company president in six short years. "I've found the opportunities are there for anyone professionally competent enough to take advantage of them," she comments.

Briefing Delayed

WASHINGTON — The Interior Department has announced that briefings on the 1969 federal coal mine health and safety law scheduled today in Madisonville, Ky., have been delayed two weeks. The briefings now will be held March 19 and 20.

Farm Program Signup Ends On March 20

Pointing out to producers that the farm program signup period, Feb. 2 through March 20, is more than half over, Sterling Stone, chairman of the County Conservation (ASC) Committee, today urged farmers to sign up as soon as possible at the County

ASCS Office. "To date, 1,075 farms have been signed up for the 1970 feed grain, wheat, and cotton programs," he said, "out of a total eligible number of 3,920. This indicates that we will have the usual last-minute rush near the close of the signup period. Farmers may save themselves from standing in line if they come in now to sign up."

Participation in the feed grain, wheat, and cotton programs is voluntary. Those who sign up and comply with the program provisions will earn benefits such as eligibility for price-support loans, price-support payments or wheat marketing certificates, and may earn payments for additional diversion of feed grain and wheat acreage beyond the diversion required for program compliance.

Obion County has 1,876 feed grain farms with an acreage of 58,215, some 1,020 wheat farms with an acreage of 7,071 and 1,024 cotton farms with an acreage of 9,450 eligible for the 1970 farm programs. So far, acreages signed up include: 487 for feed grain, 101 for wheat, and 487 for cotton.

Cutback Affects Kentucky

WASHINGTON — A Defense Department personnel cutback will eliminate five civilian and 600 military jobs at
Ft. Knox, Ky., for annual savings of $4.3 million per year.
At Ft. Campbell, the only other Kentucky base affected by the announcement Wednesday, 85 military positions and no civilian jobs will be lost.
Sen. Marlow W. Cook, R-Ky., said both projects will be completed by June 30, leaving Ft.
Knox with 36,694 civilian and military personnel and Ft.
Campbell with 18,121.
Officials said a detailed listing of the base cuts, which amounted to elimination of 58,000 civilian jobs nationwide would be made public today.

Fashion Experts Say Longer Skirts Will Be The Word For Fall

NEW YORK — American designers started beating the drums of fashion for longer skirts in 1968. Now the sound has bounced across the Atlantic and reverberated back again in the form of midcalf and longer hems from Paris.

But who's really calling the tune? And are American women listening?

Some department store buyers are hedging, purchasing minis, midis and maxis. Designers aren't sure either. January showings of spring clothes by America's top ready-to-wear designers featured a mixture of lengths.

Pauline Trigere, who showed above the knee clothes, says, "Short is young. I don't think everybody should get so panicky." But she adds, "Long after five is fine. A wardrobe of lengths is good."

Adolfo, who was selling gingham midis to socialites such as Gloria Vanderbilt Cooper several years ago, says, "The midi is selling well. It's just the beginning for long skirts." But then he adds, "The mini will still be around."

And the customer? "My closet is ready for anything," says a woman. "Please no! I love legs," counters a man.

Many fashion experts agree short skirts will stay through the summer. The minis already are in the stores and retailers outside New York report that, so far at least, there's been no enormous demand for the midi.

Come September, the scene should change. "By fall, there is no question that the longer skirts will be a serious factor," says Leonard Hankin, executive vice president of Bergdorf Goodman.

"The question is: How quickly and by whom will they be accepted?"

The longer look means anything from top of the knee to top of the ankle.

In Paris, Chanel kept her day clothes just below the knee. But that's where she's always kept them.

Givenchy showed hems ranging from the kneecap to the ankle, recommending the latter length for evening.

Marc Bohan at Dior turned out midi or midcalf styles.

The New York Daily News has been polling women of all ages to see which skirt length is most popular. The results so far show that 8.8 per cent of women voting favor the mini. The balloting, which began Wednesday and ends Tuesday, has drawn 7,804 votes.

Local Taxes Up Again?

Upset about your city and county taxes? If so, you had better brace yourself because the worst is yet to come.

This was the message Rotarians heard Friday noon at the Billmore from Tipton County Judge Henry Vaughan, whose county has recently been read-praised by the same company which is now working in Obion County.

Mr. Vaughan was introduced by his brother, Rotarian John Tom Vaughan.

Next Friday noon Rotarians and Kiwanians will hold a joint meeting to hear a talk on the narcotics problem by Dr. James E. Dusenberry of the University of Arkansas. Special arrangements are being made to seat the combined membership for the talk.

Judge Vaughan said that Obion County's assessments went up 66 2/3 per cent from 15 per cent to 25 per cent last year and will have to go up another 20 per cent during the next fiscal year (from 25 per cent to 30 per cent).

"The people you will hear from on this evaluation are the farmers. In the past the farmer hasn't been taxed as hard. I guess the tax assessors figured he was having a hard enough time making ends meet and figured to give him a break. Then, too, in counties such as yours and mine, the farm vote was the most important anyway -- and you know tax assessors must run for office."

"On the other hand, as a rule, the assessor hit the fellow who lived on Main Street a little harder, figuring if he could afford to live there he could afford to pay the taxes. At the same time the Public Service Commission was socking it to public utilities."

"All this has changed now. The utilities have received a reduction in their rates and the fellows on Main Street will be assessed at their fair evaluation. This leaves the farmers to take up the slack," Judge Vaughan said.

As an example, he said he purchased a farm in Tipton County about 10 years ago for $23,000. He said his taxes before re-evaluation were $300 but now have jumped to $300.

The pitfall in the re-appraisal program, according to Judge Vaughan, is that such appraisal firms usually do a better job on residential property than they do on farms.

"This is probably because they haven't the time to get out and look over the farmers' back property line to actually see what is there," he said.

The one salvation, according to Judge Vaughan, is the county's Board of Equalization. "This board can equalize and correct the mistakes of the survey committee by raising and lowering the evaluation on certain parcels," he said.

According to Judge Vaughan little if any extra money has been brought in by the re-evaluation. "We just spread it out a little differently by taxing the utilities less and the private citizens more."

He said the tax rate of his county was dropped from $5.25

Fulton, Ky. Thursday, March 12, 1970 Page 7 to $2.55.

The re-appraisal problems most of Tennessee's counties are now facing actually began several years ago when public utilities companies in two counties went to court and won two lawsuits proving they were paying more than their fair share of the tax load.

While agreeing that this may be true, Judge Vaughan said he has not heard of railroads reducing county rates or gas companies reducing their rates after relief from the high taxes.
